

Other braces replaced by the T-Joe Pectus Bracing System

IS YOUR CHILD THE VICTIM OF A BAD PECTUS BRACE?

Don't get trapped into buying a brace for Pectus Carinatum that is destined to end up being tossed into your child's closet. Not all Pectus braces are the same. Insist on the premier brace for the non-surgical improvement of Pectus Carinatum, the T-Joe Pectus Bracing System from Pectus Services, the first FDA registered brace in the United States.

OTHER BRACES

- Ordered from a catalog, one size fits all
- Painful and uncomfortable to wear
- Exposed metal frame that may rub and irritate skin
- Bulky design restricts movement
- Protrudes and is clearly visible under clothing
- Not waterproof

T-JOE PECTUS BRACING SYSTEM

- Customized for each patient in the T-Joe Bracing Lab
- Lightweight, unrestrictive and comfortable to wear
- The only brace that comes with soft covers, that are washable for good hygiene
- Anatomically friendly design so kids can wear it during gym class, sports or just having fun
- While not invisible the T-Joe's sleek low profile makes it barely noticeable under clothing
- Waterproof version available for swimming

This patient wore the bracing device shown for almost one year with little or no improvement.

Here you can see the improvement in only 1 month using the T-Joe Pectus Bracing System & Exercise Program.

Since 1996 Pectus Services has had thousands of successful outcomes from the most mild to the most severe pectus defects for patients from the USA and around the world, including boys and girls; tots, kids, teens and young adults.
